Footnotes

1. COVID-19 temporary loan repayment deferral data as reported to APRA (unless noted otherwise), based on the domestic lending book with segmented reporting for housing and SME lending (defined as lending to clients with total loan facilities up to $10m). All reporting to APRA is submitted on a best endeavours basis. Data is categorised and reported based on predominant loan purpose, which differs to a product-based categorisation (Product View) used in the preparation of the Group's financial results. Together with other definitional and classification differences noted against specific metrics and as outlined in footnotes below, this results in some differences in reported deferral numbers relative to APRA reporting. For reference, key metrics under both APRA reporting definitions and the CBA Product View are shown where relevant.
2. Deferral extensions subject to eligibility criteria. Extension periods of up to 4 months for a maximum total deferral period of 10 months from the start of the repayment deferral, or until 31 March 2021, whichever comes first.
3. Total business lending deferral balances, including exposures >$10m (ex Institutional Lending, ex SME Government Guarantee loans).
4. Includes asset finance leases. SME Government Guarantee loans are excluded from SME loan deferral totals from July 2020. October movement reflects a large volume of Asset Finance exposures exiting as auto-deferrals expired.
5. 'Other' includes home loans with a predominant personal purpose and non-SME business loans (>$10m).
6. New or extended loan deferrals include deferrals where an extension has been granted in the month. Expired, exited or extended deferrals include deferrals exited in the month or where an extension has been granted in the month.
7. Includes loans that have switched to interest only, hardship assistance and voluntary sales.
8. Excludes loan deferrals that do not receive capital concession.
9. Per APRA's EFS data collection, 'Investment housing loan' refers to a loan to a household for the purpose of housing where the funds are used for a residential property that is not owner-occupied and is not the principal place of residence.
10. Current LVR as per APS112 definition. This differs from Dynamic LVR numbers reported in the Group's financial results, which reflect collateral values updated monthly. Movement reflects proportionally fewer deferral exits from the higher LVR segment.
